A LETTER FROM THE ARTISTIC DIRECTOR
By Chris Coleman

What’s up with the monsters and aliens? Has that ever crossed your mind? I don’t know if you’re watching Stranger Things on Netflix these days (I highly recommend it), but it takes me back, both to my youth (it’s set in 1983) and to my long fascination with creatures from other worlds. Aliens, Poltergeist, Close Encounters: these were the seminal ‘creature’ movies from my early days, but images of invaders from other realms have been with us as long as we’ve had the capacity to be frightened.

Is it the sense that there could be another dimension where malicious forces lurk? A subtle clairvoyance on our part? An aspect of our psyche we haven’t fully integrated into waking life? You decide.

What’s lucky for us, is that Howard Ashman and Alan Menken were both fascinated and amused by the genre of entertainment that traffics in our fears. In Roger Corman’s 1960 cult classic The Little Shop of Horrors, they found their source material and began imagining the piece as a musical. The songs were catchy, the tone both innocent and malevolent, with just a hint of repressed sexuality. And inside the silliness was the core of a good, old-fashioned monster story. Would the humans defeat the forces they couldn’t explain? Or would the forces bring destruction upon all around them?

In a moment as complex, confusing and fraught as the one we are currently living through, what better way to launch the season, than with the hilarious, infectious story that is Little Shop?

Special thanks to Carol, my incredible mom-in-law, for being willing to travel 3,000 miles to make this possible, my wonderful husband, Ken, who supports my dreams no matter what, and my beautiful daughter, Olivia, for being the best 2-year-old I could ever ask for.

Johari Nandi Mackey

Chiffon/Dance Captain

Johari Nandi Mackey is delighted to be making her debut at The Armory. A recent Carnegie Mellon graduate, originally from the south side of Chicago, Johari has always been outgoing and theatrical. She started her musical theater career at Thornwood High School with a production of Little Shop of Horrors, so this show holds a dear place in her heart. She is very excited to relive those moments with a new team for the amazing Portland Center Stage at The Armory. Her recent credits include Les Misérables at The Muny and Gertrude Stein Saints at Abrons Arts Center. Johari wants to thank her mother, Veronica Jackson, and father, Reginald Mackey, as well as her entire family for their constant support and love.
Chaz Rose

BAND BIOGRAPHIES

Will Amend
Bass
Will is very excited to be back at The Armory for Little Shop of Horrors, where he was previously in the pit for Ain't Misbehavin', Cabaret, West Side Story and The Fantasticks. Other Portland credits include Les Misérables at Broadway Rose Theatre Company, Mars on Life at Artists Repertory Theatre and The Full Monty at Pixie Dust. He has toured the United States and Britain as a member of eight different bands from the Portland area and beyond. He teaches upright and electric bass, and cello.

Jeffrey Childs
Conductor/Piano
Originally from Chico, CA, Jeffrey has been the staff accompanist at CSU, Chico, as well as the cofounder of Theater, ETC, a musical theater program for children. He has helped to develop shows with the Broadway Junior program at Music Theatre International in New York. He served as assistant music director for Dreamgirls, Fiddler on the Roof and Sweeney Todd at The Armory. Some favorite shows he's music directed in Portland are The 25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee, A Taffeta Christmas, Oklahoma! and The World Goes Round (PAMTA, Drammy) at Broadway Rose Theatre Company. Other credits include: A Year with Frog and Toad and James and the Giant Peach at Oregon Children's Theatre, and Violet at Staged!. Jeffrey teaches classes and camps at Oregon Children's Theatre and Spotlight Musical Theatre Academy.

Tim Ribner
Keyboards
Tim Ribner played keyboard for the 2014 production of Dreamgirls at The Armory. He has taught and performed with PHAME Academy and Northwest Children's Theater in Portland. He has also been involved with musical productions at Westminster Choir College, Princeton University, Columbia University and Harlem School for the Arts. He obtained a B.F.A. in Jazz Performance from New School University and enjoys being surrounded by plants.

Eric Toner
Guitar
Having thirty years with his hands at the acoustic, electric and classical guitars, Eric plays a broad cross section of music genres. In his early twenties, he toured nationally for two years in several groups, recording three albums. Also a singer and sound engineer, he spends his time writing, arranging, recording, sound designing, mixing and producing, but his big passion is live performance. These days you will usually find him performing in musical theater orchestras in the greater Portland region. Favorite shows include Dreamgirls, Fiddler on the Roof, Next to Normal, Hairspray, Annie, The Kiss and The Devil vs Matthew McConaughey.

Mitch Wilson
Drums
Though born and raised in Portland, Mitch Wilson has had the opportunity to perform across the country and around the world. He traveled to Taiwan to perform in their tremendous New Year celebration, Festival of Lights. In 2010, Mitch received a B.F.A. from The New School for Jazz and Contemporary Music in New York. While there, he toured with rock band The Pretty Reckless, featuring Taylor Momsen. He also gained a unique insight into the contemporary music industry by working at the prestigious Virgin Records/EMI. Past musicals include: The Armory (One Night with Janis Joplin); Northwest Children’s Theater (Grease, Annie); Artists Repertory Theatre (Footloose); and Broadway Rose Theatre Company (Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat).
“A tidal wave of terror!” shouted the poster for Attack of the Crab People. “Crawling horror rising from the depths of hell!” screamed Attack of the Giant Leeches. “No girl is safe!” warned Night of the Blood Beast. By the time legendary pulp cinema director Roger Corman released The Little Shop of Horrors in 1960, moviegoers had become familiar with such spine-tingling slogans and over-the-top titles. The popularity of the drive-in movie theater peaked in the late ‘50s, and along with it came a rash of films that blended horror, science fiction, and camp sensibilities. Hordes of cinephiles flocked to the parking lot movie palaces, which became stomping grounds for the low-budget “B Movies” that were losing their billing at indoor theaters as double feature programming was phased out. These films tended to chronicle an attempt by an ominous species to extinguish humanity and have been belittled for their hyperbolic acting, outlandish plotlines and cheaply-constructed monsters. But they have also been favorably considered for their frank dramatization of the cultural dread that permeated mid-20th century America.

The heart of these films is their exuberant investigation of human fear. Critics have noted the thematic resonance between parasitic creatures like giant leeches and body-snatching seed pods with the social hysteria surrounding communism, McCarthyism, fascist totalitarian rule, xenophobia, and post-war nuclear annihilation. Many of the films, moreover, hearken back to Mary Shelley’s Frankenstein, one of sci-fi’s pioneering ancestors, by exploiting the trope of the “mad scientist” whose moral compass spins out of control in his pursuit of progress.

Corman’s Little Shop, written by master of the bizarre Charles B. Griffith, winks at the hallmarks of these films and adds a dark sense of humor to the mix. By incorporating wicked social satire and classic slapstick comedic routines, this seemingly silly story — a dim-witted botanist decides to commit murder to feed his man-eating plant — becomes a nightmarish parable centered on the struggle for upward socioeconomic mobility and the psychic fallout of loneliness.

When Howard Ashman and Alan Menken adapted Little Shop into a stage musical in 1982, they remained faithful to their source but pushed the film’s gestures to the extreme. In songs like “Skid Row” and “Somewhere That’s Green,” the financial desperation and existential stasis trapping Seymour and Audrey is brought to the fore. The addition of ‘60s girl group singers Crystal, Ronnette and Chiffon pulls the audience directly into the play. The three women function as Greek Chorus-like narrators, and their musical style brings the show’s contrasting tones of gruesome horror and comic vitality into sharp focus, subtly mirroring the racially divided decade in which the play is set. The musical’s most striking departure from Corman’s film is the alteration to the ending, which has sparked controversy since its premiere and was ultimately rewritten for the star-studded 1986 film adaptation.

Beneath the vintage charm and toothsome throwbacks to a bygone era, Little Shop of Horrors conjures an atmosphere of unease. The creators train their visionary eye on humankind’s insatiable appetite for power and control, while skewering our willingness to rationalize our wrongdoings and eschew responsibility for our actions. Ashman and Menken — and Corman and Griffith before them — may have been sending up a culture of trepidation now sixty years old, but their razor-jawed observations on social anxiety snap just as tightly today.

CREATIVE TEAM BIOGRAPHIES

Howard Ashman
Book and Lyrics
Best known as a pivotal creative mind behind the renaissance of Disney animation and his work on The Little Mermaid, Aladdin and Beauty and the Beast (which is dedicated to "Our friend, Howard Ashman, who gave a Mermaid her voice and a Beast his soul"), Ashman's first love was theater. Ashman was a founder of off-off Broadway's renowned WPA Theatre, where he conceived, wrote and directed God Bless You, Mr. Rosewater, as well as the classic musical Little Shop of Horrors (both with music by Alan Menken). In 1986, he wrote and directed the Broadway musical Smile (music by Marvin Hamlisch). Lamented as a lost treasure of the 1980s theater scene, Smile remains popular on high school and college campuses throughout the country. Howard Ashman died in 1991 from complications of AIDS. howardashman.com

Alan Menken
Music
Alan Menken’s music and lyrics have become an integral part of the fabric of our lives since his first works were produced nearly 40 years ago. His stage musicals include Little Shop of Horrors, God Bless You Mr. Rosewater, Atina: Evil Queen of the Galaxy, Real Life Funnies, Kicks, The Dream on Royal Street, Beauty and the Beast, A Christmas Carol, Weird Romance, King David, The Little Mermaid, Sister Act, Leap of Faith, Newsies, Aladdin, The Hunchback of Notre Dame and The Apprenticeship of Duddy Kravitz. Song and score credits for film musicals include The Little Mermaid, Beauty and the Beast, Newsies, Aladdin, Pocahontas, The Hunchback of Notre Dame, Hercules, The Shaggy Dog, Home on the Range, Enchanted, Tangled and Mirror Mirror. Song credits for film include Rocky V/“The Measure of a Man”, Home Alone 2: Lost in New York/“My Christmas Tree”, Life With Mikey/“Cold Enough to Snow”, Noel/“Winter Light”; and Captain America: First Avenger/“Star Spangled Man.” Songs for television include Sesame Street, the ABC miniseries Lincoln, a musical episode of The Neighbors and the ABC series Galavant. His chart topping songs have included “Beauty and the Beast,” “A Whole New World,” “Colors of the Wind” and “Go the Distance.” He recently won Tony and Drama Desk awards for Newsies. He has won more Academy Awards than any other living individual (including four for Best Score and four for Best Song); 11 Grammy Awards (including Song of the Year for “A Whole New World”); seven Golden Globes; the London’s Evening Standard Award; an Olivier Award; and an Outer Critics Circle Award. Other notable achievements include induction into the Songwriters Hall of Fame and Billboard’s Number One Single (“A Whole New World”) and Number One Album (Pocahontas). In 2001, he was named a Disney Legend. He has doctorates in Fine Arts from New York University and North Carolina School of the Arts. In 2010, he received a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame. Alan’s upcoming works include a stage production of A Bronx Tale, a New York City Center’s Encores!
production of God Bless You Mr. Rosewater, a live-action film adaptation of Beauty and the Beast, the Sony animated movie Sausage Party, and a film musical project for Universal Pictures.

Bill Fennelly
Director
Bill Fennelly is thrilled to return to Portland Center Stage at The Armory where he directed Gypsy and Black Pearl Sings!. Recent projects include The Underpants at Guild Hall in East Hampton, Hairspray and A Midsummer Night’s Dream at Syracuse Stage (S.A.L.T. Awards for Director of the Year and Production of the Year for both productions), Herringbone (Barrymore Award nomination, Best Director of a Musical), and the world premiere of Fly By Night at Dallas Theatre Center and TheatreWorks in Palo Alto (Dallas Column Award for Best Director of a Musical; Bay Area Critics Award nomination for Outstanding Director of a Musical). Bill’s work has been seen on Broadway, Off-Broadway and regionally, including: original assistant director for Jersey Boys; resident director for The Lion King; staff director at New York City Opera; Phil Killian Directing Fellow at Oregon Shakespeare Festival; associate producing artistic director of The Acting Company; and assistant artistic director for Cirque du Soleil. Bill earned his M.F.A. in Directing from U.C.S.D. and is an associate professor of theatre at Drexel University.

Mark Tynan
Stage Manager
Imagine being in a room full of artists, watching the birth of an idea, a movement given purpose, a sentence, phrase, scene, act given life. Then imagine that room translating to the stage with lighting, sound, costumes, scenery and props, then you can imagine what Mark’s job is like. Special thanks to the phenomenal production assistants, Stephen Kriz Gardner, Will Bailey, Kristina Mast, Bailey Anne Maxwell and Kristen Mun, who help keep the vision attainable. Prior to The Armory, Mark toured nationally and internationally with musicals including Dreamgirls, The King and I with Rudolf Nureyev, How to Succeed …, Grand Hotel, The Phantom of the Opera, Rent and Jersey Boys. Other Portland credits include several summers with Broadway Rose Theatre Company in Tigard. Regional credits include Alley Theatre (Houston, TX), La Jolla Playhouse (La Jolla, CA) and Casa Mañana Theatre (Fort Worth, TX).

Other Portland credits include Portland Opera’s Sweeney Todd (followspot caller); the world premiere of DC Copeland's Play (stage manager/production manager); and How to End Poverty in 90 Minutes and The Other Place at Portland Playhouse (stage manager). Touring stage management credits include: The Graduate (starring Morgan Fairchild), Cats, The Vagina Monologues, Jekyll & Hyde and Show Boat. While in New York, Janine had the opportunity to work on The Lion King on Broadway, as well as with many Off-Broadway and regional companies. Production management credits include: The Daily Show with Jon Stewart for “Democalypse 2012 Republican National Convention” (Tampa, FL); Straz Center (Tampa, FL); and The Fox Theatre (Atlanta, GA). Proud NYU graduate and AEA member.
Stephen Kriz Gardner
Audrey II Manipulation/Production Assistant
As a local production assistant/stage manager, Stephen has been seen (and many times not seen) on stage handing off props or moving scenic pieces, sometimes even in costume, but this will be Stephen's first production where he takes part in bringing a significant character in a play to life. He could not be more excited to take on this role during his fourth season at The Armory. So, in the words of his stage manager, "let's see what happens."

Bailey Anne Maxwell
Production Assistant
Bailey Anne Maxwell is thrilled to be returning to The Armory for another season, after acting as production assistant for Stupid Fking Bird, Sex with Strangers, Other Desert Cities, Twist Your Dickens (2014 and 2015) and Dreamgirls. Bailey also worked as a deck crew member on Great Expectations at The Armory last season. In the past, Bailey has worked as a production assistant with Artists Repertory Theatre on The Motherfker with the Hat, Foxfinder, Ten Chimneys, The Lost Boy and Seven Guitars. Bailey has recently enjoyed being the stage manager for Up the Fall with PHAME Academy and The Wizard of Oz with Broadway Rose Theatre Company. She has also worked with Profile Theatre as a stage management apprentice on Buried Child, Eyes for Consuela and In the Next Room. Bailey is a proud Linfield College graduate and a member of the EMC program.

Cincinnati Playhouse in the Park
Co-Producer
Founded in 1960 and a recipient of two Tony Awards — the 2004 Regional Theatre Tony Award and the 2007 Tony Award for Best Revival of a Musical for Company — Cincinnati Playhouse in the Park is known for its artistic excellence, commitment to new works, creative educational programming, and as an artistic home for some of America’s best actors, directors and designers. For the past 20 years, the Playhouse has produced at least one world premiere production each season, several of which have gone on to subsequent productions or publications. Artistic Director Blake Robison and Managing Director Buzz Ward oversee a full-time staff of 75. Together with a board of 54 trustees and nearly 1,000 volunteers, they remain committed to a tradition of excellence that carries the Playhouse well into its sixth decade. The Playhouse offers productions 10 months each year, attracting nearly 190,000 people annually to its two theaters and education and outreach programs.

Music Theatre International

Music Theatre International (MTI) is one of the world's leading theatrical licensing agencies, granting theaters from around the world the rights to perform the greatest selection of musicals from Broadway and beyond. Founded in 1952 by composer Frank Loesser and orchestrator Don Walker, MTI is a driving force in advancing musical theater as a vibrant and engaging art form. MTI works directly with the composers, lyricists and book writers of these musicals to provide official scripts, musical materials and dynamic theatrical resources to over 70,000 professional, community and school theaters in the United States and over 60 countries worldwide. MTI is particularly dedicated to educational theater and has created special collections to meet the needs of various types of performers and audiences. MTI’s Broadway Junior™ shows are 30- and 60-minute musicals for performance by elementary and middle school aged performers, while MTI’s School Editions are musicals annotated for performance by high school students.

Chris Coleman
Artistic Director

Chris joined Portland Center Stage at The Armory as artistic director in May, 2000. Before coming to Portland, Chris was the artistic director at Actor’s Express in Atlanta, a company he co-founded in the basement of an old church in 1988. Chris returned to Atlanta in 2015 to direct the world premiere of Edward Foote at Alliance Theatre (Suzi Bass Award for Best Direction, Best Production and Best World Premiere). Other recent directing credits include the Off-Broadway debut of Threesome at 59E59 Theaters; a production that had its world premiere at The Armory and was also presented at ACT Theatre in Seattle. Favorite directing assignments for Portland Center Stage at The Armory include A Streetcar Named Desire, Ain’t Misbehavin’, Three Days of Rain, Threesome, Dreamgirls, Othello, Fiddler on the Roof, Clybourne Park, Sweeney Todd, Shakespeare’s Amazing Cymbeline (which he also adapted), Anna Karenina, Oklahoma!, Snow Falling on Cedars, Ragtime, Crazy Enough, Beard of Avon, Cabaret, King Lear, Cat on a Hot Tin Roof, Man and Superman, Outrage, Flesh and Blood and The Devils. Chris has directed at theaters across the country, including Actor’s Theater of Louisville, Oregon Shakespeare Festival, ACT Theatre (Seattle), The Alliance, Dallas Theatre Center, Pittsburgh Public Theatre, New York Theatre Workshop and Center Stage (Baltimore). A native Atlantan, Chris holds a B.F.A. from Baylor University and an M.F.A. from Carnegie Mellon. He is currently the board president for the Cultural Advocacy Coalition. Chris and his husband, Rodney Hicks – who is appearing in the new musical Come From Away, which opens on Broadway in March – are the proud parents of an 18-lb Jack Russell/Lab mix, and a 110-lb English Blockhead Yellow Lab.

Portland Center Stage at The Armory
Portland Center Stage at The Armory is the largest theater company in Portland and among the top 20 regional theaters in the country. Established in 1988 as a branch of the Oregon Shakespeare Festival, the company became independent in 1994 and has been under the leadership of Artistic Director Chris Coleman since 2000. An estimated 150,000 people visit The Armory annually to enjoy a mix of classical, contemporary and world premiere productions, along with a variety of high quality education and community programs. Eleven productions are offered each season, in addition to roughly 400 community events — created in partnership with 170+ local organizations and individuals — to serve the diverse populations in the city. As part of its dedication to new play development, the company has produced 20 world premieres and presents an annual new works festival, JAW: A Playwrights Festival. The Northwest Stories series was recently launched to develop and produce works about, or by artists from, the Northwest region. Home to two theaters, The Armory was the first building on the National Register of Historic Places, and the first performing arts venue, to achieve a LEED Platinum rating.
SPONSOR STATEMENTS

The Mark and Ann Edlen Family
While our sponsorship of Little Shop of Horrors has something to do with a certain nostalgia for the ‘60s and an appreciation of the original film produced by David Geffen, it actually has more to do with our dedication to the brave and bold mission of Portland Center Stage at The Armory to bring stories to life in unexpected ways. Our support is also deeply tied to the vision and dedication of Bob and Diana Gerding, whose leadership helped ensure that this mission would happen within an amazing, historic and beautiful building — creating community, challenging our minds and opening our hearts.

GBD Architects
When we were given the opportunity to design The Armory, we knew the project had to be more than special. Good theater can affect an audience deeply, so the architecture had to support that mission. Creating a magical place for people from all walks of life to experience the arts was a gift for us, and a gift to the city for generations to come.

Christine and Dave Vernier
Most of the time, a sponsor of a play has some profound comment to make about the production. This time, all we can say is: "It sure is fun!" Little Shop of Horrors started as a low-budget dark comedy filmed in 1960. The musical version premiered in 1982. Locally, it had two runs at the long gone, but not forgotten, Portland Civic Theater in 1986 and 1990. When we went to the PCT production, local television star and future Oregonian columnist, Margie Boule, was a great Audrey. The son of one of The Armory's great supporters and our friend, Julie Vigeland, was also in the cast. Little Shop of Horrors helped give us, Julie, and her son the theater bug. Every year we invite our employees to a production at The Armory. This year we chose Little Shop of Horrors because we know they will love it. We are sure you will too!

Actors take chances. Sometimes they work. Sometimes they don't. But none of these actors would be on stage tonight without taking chances. It's part of growth, and we're all made to grow. That's why we're such a proud supporter of Portland Center Stage. Let this performance inspire you to take the chances that power your own growth.
