December 7, 2016 – PORTLAND, Ore. Portland Center Stage at The Armory is using a story produced for the stage as a lens for audiences to explore a key part of U.S. history, guided by a “Visit Astoria” travel itinerary. Consisting of three days of outlined destinations and attractions, the itinerary both educates travelers on the history surrounding Astoria, the first U.S. settlement on the West Coast, and aids in bolstering the tourism industry in Oregon. Inspired by the world premiere production of Astoria: Part One, playing at The Armory January 14 through February 12, 2017, the travel itinerary gives theater-goers and tourists alike the chance to explore the region featured in the production and gain a deeper connection with the story on stage. The “Visit Astoria” itinerary is one of two travel itineraries — made possible in part by a grant from Travel Oregon—that were released this season as part of Portland Center Stage at The Armory’s Northwest Stories series.

NORTHWEST STORIES SERIES

New for the 2016-2017 season, Portland Center Stage at The Armory’s Northwest Stories series is a celebration of the essence of the region. From fresh looks at history to dynamic explorations of contemporary culture, Northwest Stories blends adventurous storytelling with local impact, all created with the immediacy and vibrancy that only live performance can bring. The “Explore the Great Northwest Stories” travel itineraries work in tandem with the series, providing vacation ideas to enhance the experience of seeing Bekah Brunstetter’s The Oregon Trail and the world premiere of Astoria, Chris Coleman’s adaptation of the book by Peter Stark.
CHRIS COLEMAN’S ASTORIA: PART ONE

Adapted from the best-selling book by Peter Stark, this harrowing dual journey — one over land, one by sea — will be told with an exceptional cast of sixteen actors. At a time when the edge of American settlement barely reached beyond the Appalachian Mountains, two visionaries — President Thomas Jefferson and millionaire John Jacob Astor — foresaw that one day the Pacific would dominate world trade as much as the Atlantic did in their day. Just two years after the Lewis and Clark Expedition concluded in 1806, Jefferson and Astor turned their sights westward once again. Thus began one of history’s dramatic but largely forgotten turning points in the conquest of the North American continent. This monumental piece of American history will be told in two parts over the course of two seasons at Portland Center Stage at The Armory. Part One covers the journey to Astoria and Part Two is about the establishment of Astoria, the first permanent United States settlement on the West Coast.
